The weekly newsletters bring the updates on the science, battered and bruised during the pandemic, legal updates and impact of activism for a just society, across the world. These are small steps to promote Transparency, Empowerment and Accountability – the ethos of the UHO.

The Vaccine Paradox Continues – now with more hard evidence from ONS Data, UK

Early after the mass vaccination rollouts in many countries, a vaccine paradox was noticed, i.e. that population levels vaccination coverage did not correlate with the incidence of SARS-CoV-2 infections. A study published in the European Journal of Epidemiology, which analyzed data from 68 countries and 2947 American counties brought out this paradox.

Same paradox was noted a year ago, on compiling data on Covid-19 and vaccination coverage which was available in the public domain. Most recently critical appraisal of the Office of National Statistics (ONS) data brings out some intriguing patterns which are counterintuitive.

Comparing the mortality for the period June 2022 to May 2023, in the UK from this data, people who were vaccinated had 155,000 excess deaths than they would have had if they had not been vaccinated. This was estimated by the death rates in the unvaccinated and the vaccinated, which was much higher. The mortality was higher across all age groups.

Concurring with the commentator of this analysis, UHO recommends that these uniquely detailed datasets should be peer reviewed by academics around the globe. Open publication of peer reviewed papers with transparency should be supported. Medical Journals should publish the truth, howsoever inconvenient – a role they have been neglecting in the pandemic. The UK government should also give a public statement on the findings based on this data.

It is a matter of introspection for our country which boasts of a robust digital platform that we do not have similar data on our Ministry of Health Website. Had we maintained similar datasets we could have compared the mortality rates among the vaccinated and the unvaccinated and quantified the number of lives saved by vaccination, if any? Such rigor, given our data dividend due to our large population, would have raised our global standing much more among the world scientific community rather than Bollywood movies feeding jingoistic opium to the masses ignoring hard data. Alas, when science is suppressed, people die.

The World Health Organization (WHO) anticipates a far more severe pandemic due to “Disease X.”

The WHO, which is struggling for winning back its credibility among the rational people of the world seems doomed to do just the opposite. Its latest foolish move is to announce preparations for the next pandemic due to an unnamed disease, which It calls “Disease X.” The WHO has taken note of the warning due to Disease X put forth by an expert from the UK, putting it on the priority list for diseases with pandemic potential. The other diseases which are included in this list are Ebola, Lassa Fever, Middle East Respiratory Syndrome (MERS), Nipah and Zika which according to the WHO has caused high fatality in past outbreaks.

Will such wet woods catch enough fire for driving a pandemic? Well by itself it may be difficult to light a fire with wet wood. But adding fuel and extra tinder and kindling can generate fire even with wet wood. This is exactly what the WHO and some world governments seem to be doing by propaganda at the slightest whiff of a couple of deaths or handful of cases. These are blown out of proportions. Media is always ready to make a mountain out of a molehill. Jumping in the fray are career scientists and bureaucrats. Recently we witnessed this “tamasha” after a couple of deaths and a handful of cases of Nipah virus in Kerala. Schools and colleges were closed in 98 wards of Kozhikode district of Kerala with declaration of many containment zones. The agenda appears to be creating panic among the people and dumping diagnostics and vaccines on a mass scale. WHO seems to be losing sight of its own definition of health which stressed on a holistic approach including “physical, mental and social well being.” The new Imperialism is driven by the pharma race instead of the arms race.

Our neighbor Pakistan follows suit, closes schools after cases of viral conjunctivitis rise.

More than 56,000 schools in Pakistan have been shut down following a viral conjunctivitis outbreak. Health officials say that this will break the ‘chain of transmission’ one of the jargons popular after the covid pandemic tamasha. More than three lakhs cases have already occurred before the announcement of school closure. At this stage of the outbreak one fails to understand how the chain of transmission will be interrupted. It is like shutting the stable door after the horse has bolted. These type of seasonal viral outbreaks are a regular feature, India too experienced it, are self limiting and do not warrant such stringent measures. Public health has regressed to medieval practices with disregard for science or logic. School closures have become a knee jerk reflex without any evidence of its efficacy in controlling transmission.

UHO is concerned that such frequent school and businesses closures at the slightest threat of seasonal or sporadic disease outbreaks which are natural phenomena and self-limiting, will promote unjustified panic over a period of time. It will have long term impact on children’s educational and psychological development and make them paranoid for life. The economically backward classes who work with their hands will suffer while the laptop classes who can work from home will benefit increasing social inequities.

Negative information which is spread through mass media repeatedly can affect public health negatively by way of nocebo effects and mass hysteria.

Against the background of constant threats, unsubstantiated by hard evidence, being issued regarding the next pandemic of “Disease X’ claiming to kill over 50 million people, the pitch will be prepared for exploitation of the common citizen by stakeholders with various conflicts of interests be they politicians, bureaucrats, career scientists, the pharmaceutical industry and the greatest threat to public health, the WHO, with its ambition of launching the Pandemic Treaty which will give this unelected and unaccountable organization extraordinary powers and world dictatorship.
